Bachelor of Health Sciences Degree Programmes in Occupational Therapy and Physiotherapy

Lakehead University

in collaboration with

McMaster University

Because occupational therapists and physiotherapists are in short supply throughout Canada, recruiting graduates to work in Northwestern Ontario is difficult. When presented with the opportunity to develop a new School, McMaster and Lakehead Universities worked together to design an innovative programme to address this problem.

Experience has shown that health professionals frequently locate in communities similar to those in which they receive their training. Exposing students to the professional opportunities and lifestyle choices available in Northwestern Ontario increases the likelihood that they choose to work here when they graduate. Lakehead University's Schools of Nursing and Social Work are excellent examples of a successful application of this approach. McMaster has had some experience in this type of community based training through the Northwestern Ontario Medical Programme. This program has been successfully providing Northwestern Ontario experiences for medical students and residents from all the Ontario medical schools since 1972.

While the ideal strategy would be to develop a new school at Lakehead, the resource requirements to start from scratch are enormous. McMaster has the advantage of experience gained from involvement in the diploma programme offered at Mohawk College, the local community college in Hamilton. The Mohawk programme finishes this year. McMaster has also offered a degree completion option for Mohawk and other diploma graduates in the therapies since 1981.

The planning group for the new school designed a curriculum which provides an opportunity for students to receive part of their training in Northwestern Ontario. Core academic training will take place at Lakehead and clinical training will take place in Thunder Bay and in the smaller communities throughout the region. The students will receive this clinical training in local health care institutions and clinics.

The programmes at McMaster are designed to graduate fully qualified therapists in two calendar years. Because many of the applicants to Schools of Occupational Therapy and Physiotherapy have already completed a university degree, the planners decided to focus on this group of applicants. A completed baccalaureate degree is a prerequisite for admission.

The Northern Studies Stream will initially offer one complete fourteen week block, or module, in each programme at Lakehead University. In addition to providing the core academic content, the Northern Studies Stream will include a seminar series designed to make the students aware of specific northern health issues. Initially, plans call for making this option available for up to half of each class. As the new programmes develop, the programmes will consider offering additional blocks in Northwestern Ontario.

To start, McMaster will base two full-time faculty members at Lakehead, one each in Occupational Therapy and Physiotherapy. Additional input will come from McMaster as required. Lakehead will provide the northern health perspective. Community therapists will provide the professional training and supervision for the students during their clinical placements in the region.

Planning for the Northern Studies Stream is well under way, but some items are still unresolved. Facilities, funding for student travel and accommodation, and arrangements for clinical placements all yet have to be finalized. Through a grant, the Ontario Ministry of Northern Development and Mines has provided funding for a full-time development coordinator. This coordinator will work with the two universities and the local professional community to put the final arrangements in place. We hope to have this position filled early in 1990.

The first class of students, 30 in each programme, will begin at McMaster this September. We plan to offer the first session of the Northern Studies Stream in early 1991. Our expectations for the new programme are high. If the enthusiasm and support of all those involved is any indication, these expectations will be met.

Kenora Campus

In November Lakehead University's Department of Continuing Education celebrated the official opening of the Kenora Campus at 101 Main Street, 2nd floor. The Continuing Education department has been offering off-campus courses in Kenora since 1968. Currently there are over 200 registrants in Kenora and approximately 16 courses are offered each year. Previous to the acquisition of the 101 Main Street site, Lakehead University classroom space has been rented from or provided by local churches, the hospital, schools, Confederation College and social agencies. The Campus consists of two classrooms, and an office fully equipped with Lakehead University literature, computers, audio-visual equipment and small kitchen facilities. The Campus will be staffed by a part-time Lakehead University off-campus representative who will be available to respond to inquiries.

Giant Heart Award

Congratulations to LU alumna Lorraine Harris (BA'86) for being presented with the City of Thunder Bay's Giant Heart Award. Mrs. Harris has been with the University for 15 years and has spent the last several years working as a secretary in the LUSU office. In the nomination letter Lorraine was described as being easy to talk to, knowledgeable and caring especially to new students who find themselves in a strange city and in need of a friend.

Centres of Excellence

Minister of State (Science and Technology) William Winegard announced the names of the 14 selected networks under the federal government's $240 million Networks of Centres of Excellence (NCE) Program. One of the selected networks entitled, "Science and Engineering for High-Value Papers from Mechanical Wood Pulps", included research projects by five Lakehead University professors.

One of the research goals of this Centre is to develop the mechanical pulping process to the point where it can produce superior grade papers that will not yellow. The Centre will link many of Canada's best scientists in networks stretching right across the country. It will also promote the vertical integration of university researchers with their colleagues in industry and government laboratories. The fact that Lakehead University is affiliated with a national Centre of Excellence is sure to provide the University with many future research opportunities.

An English student's dream summer? Picture this. A glittering summer day on the shores of the Yukon and Klondike rivers, a bandanna round your neck, a pack upon your back, and a copy of Thoreau's Walden in hand. Then off into the hills for a hike and hours spent reading upon a ridge over-looking the river valleys. Sound appealing? I thought so -- and that is exactly how I spent the summer of 1989 in Dawson City, Yukon. It was during this four month break from my studies at LU that I enjoyed the unique opportunity to partake in summer correspondence quasi-course with Dr. Bill Heath of Lakehead's English department. Perhaps I should start at the beginning.

Back in the regular school year of 1988-89 while enrolled in Dr. Heath's American Literature course, he and I had discussed the possibility of conducting a directed reading correspondence course over the then upcoming summer. We met informally a few times in "The Study" to set a few goals and draw up a "course outline". Because this was private endeavor apart from Lakehead University I was left free to construct my own "ideal" course. I wanted to focus primarily on the writings of Henry David Thoreau, Walt Whitman and Herman Melville. The goals of the project were to 1) read these writers main works, reflect upon them, and write essays based upon these reflections, and 2) to write personal creative essays and poetry based upon "The Yukon Experience".

That was the plan and this is how it worked.

I left Thunder Bay after the spring exams to begin my job in Dawson City. Residing near Dawson I lived beside a pond (not Walden pond, but good enough) in a renovated sauna-cabin. During the summer I read intensively and kept notes in a journal. From these I pieced together essays based upon various experiences of hiking, canoeing, and camping and the ideas found in my readings.

These were the subject matter of our correspondence -- no tests or specific assignments were used. Thus, the experience was not of the formal, goal oriented learning kind. Rather, it has more of a lateral drift learning method, free and easy, viz. a free association of ideas between the correspondents some 4500 km apart.

For myself, the result was an extremely full and stimulating summer -- physically and intellectually. It was a summer of (and I think Thoreau would approve) living deeply and sucking out all the marrow of life.

Greater Toronto Area Alumni Chapter of Lakehead University

There is lots of news from down south to report in this issue of the Nor'Wester Magazine. Hopefully our new banner will inspire us to communicate what is happening in the Toronto Chapter, every issue.

Summer Picnic

On Sunday, September 10th, we held our 3rd annual picnic at Earl Bales Park. The on again, off again drizzle hurt us a bit with attendance, but the hearty ex-Thunder Bayites were able to brave the weather and enjoy the kite flying and volleyball matches. This type of event is good in that it allows families to get together rather than only the commuters which our pub nights tend to bring together. The bubble gum blowing contests showed there is still a child in all of us. The female champ retained her title for the third year straight, although the competition has been getting better every year. Keep practising.

Annual Fall Fundraising Drive

I would like to thank all those who contributed their time during the month of October to help with the organizing and the calling during our phonathon. The response on the phones was very positive both to participating in Chapter events and in contributing to the Alumni Annual Fund. Thank you to all.

Winter Cocktail Party

On Thursday, November 16th a get-together of the Alumni was held at Hart House, on the University of Toronto campus. Along with the hors-d'oeuvre munching and the clinking of glasses, a little business was conducted. A new executive for the Chapter was elected. Cheryl Golding has stepped up from Vice-President to President. Jack Christy has joined the executive as Vice-President. If only we all had the enthusiasm of Jack, what a Chapter this would be. Mike Sweeney will continue the fine work he has done in the past as Secretary/Treasurer. Pete Gacuk will help as a member-at-large in Chapter development. Laurence Warring will help as a member-at-large in fundraising.

Chapter Development

Now that the Alumni Association as a whole is becoming more established and other high priorities have been taken care of, the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association, back in Thunder Bay, has focussed on Chapter development. I was asked to outline some of the problems associated with starting and sustaining a Chapter. I think our problems if ranked in increasing importance are 1) the great geographical spread of our members 2) continuity of communication and 3) the reliance solely on volunteers.

It is always difficult to pick a venue for something like the cocktail party or the picnic. If we pick somewhere downtown, we catch the commuters but exclude those who work in the surrounding areas. If we go outside of town, unless we hold the event on a weekend, it is usually not worth it for the downtown workers to perhaps triple their commuting time for a one or two hour get-together. The only solution to this problem is to continue to alternate sites as we have in the past.

When we do the annual fundraising phonathon, it always amazes me how many people have changed addresses and careers. We are a very mobile group. The sheer number of people in this Chapter and the constant changing of phone numbers means we do not keep in touch as well as we should. This problem can be solved by two groups. The first group, the executive, needs to synchronize the local telephone lists with the master lists kept in Thunder Bay to ensure we don't miss anyone. In addition, we should annotate our lists so we know who would like to be called for what event and efficiently use any communications effort put forth. The second group is you, the members. Communicating is a huge task, we need volunteers to "reach out and call someone".

Our biggest problem is that we depend so much on volunteers. To make the problem worse, our most supportive volunteers are all people of a younger age group, those who are trying to establish themselves in their careers. Careers which can make last minute demands which curtail their planned commitment to help. Another aspect of this problem is that their spurts of help are sometimes not followed up which lessens the effect of their intensive effort. The solution to this problem is something the executive has been working on and I am happy to tell you about. In the new year, our Chapter will be looking for a part-time coordinator.

This will be a paid position planned for 100-200 hours per year with peak involvement around our three major events: the picnic in the summer, the cocktail party in the winter and the annual fundraising phonathon. This person will become the central "clearing house" for information about what is going on in the Chapter, and will ensure continuity of both communications and any piecemeal efforts made by volunteers. An advertisement outlining the tasks and presenting a profile of the type of person we would like to fill the position can be found on page 24 of this issue of the Nor'Wester.

With the new executive, I am very hopeful for the future. Knowing that your efforts will be amplified and sustained by this new coordinator, I hope I can appeal to all you southerners to help out. □

LETTERS

In her "Reflections" on a conference on higher education she attended in Turku, Finland in August 1988 (Nor'Wester Magazine, Fall 1989), Professor Joyce Forbes made it clear that she enjoyed her brief stay in that country. Unfortunately, her knowledge of Finnish history is quite abysmal.

First, she speaks of the University of Turku as being Finland's oldest university with a continuous history to the present day. This is not true. After the Great Fire of 1827 in Turku, the university was moved to Helsinki which by this time had become the capital of Finland. The Czar -- Finland was by then a Grand Duchy in the Russian Empire -- wanted the country's capital and university to be located closer to Russia and farther away from Finland's former sovereign, Sweden, whose capital Stockholm was just across the Gulf of Bothnia from Turku/Abo. The new University of Helsinki, now Finland's premier and largest university, is actually the successor to the old University of Turku which Professor Forbes refers to. The present-day University of Turku where her conference took place is a creation of the twentieth century and thus has no continuous history back to 1640.

Secondly, as every Finn knows, their famous composer Jean Sibelius was not born in Turku as Professor Forbes attests. She may well have been led into making this error by virtue of the charming Sibelius Museum in that city. In fact Sibelius was born in Hämeenlinna in south-eastern Finland and lived most of his life on a country estate called "Ainola" (after his wife) just north of Helsinki. It is today a museum and one may sense there the surroundings which inspired one of the twentieth century's greatest composers. Turku's most famous son -- for many at any rate -- is Paavo Nurmi, the long-distance runner.

P.S. As a member of the LU History Department in 1964-65, I served as a faculty marshal at the University's first convocation in May of that year. I later taught in the same Department from 1971-75. Congratulations on the nifty new format of the Nor'Wester and best wishes for the 25th Reunion.

Editor's Note - Dr. Forbes thanks Professor Wilson for his lessons on Finnish history -- ancient and modern, and apologizes to our readers for any inadvertent misinformation. However, in her "Reflections" Forbes did not propose to give a lesson in Finnish history but to talk about the civilizing effect of the arts -- not least of which is the art of living. □

Lakehead University Athletics

The Climb to Excellence

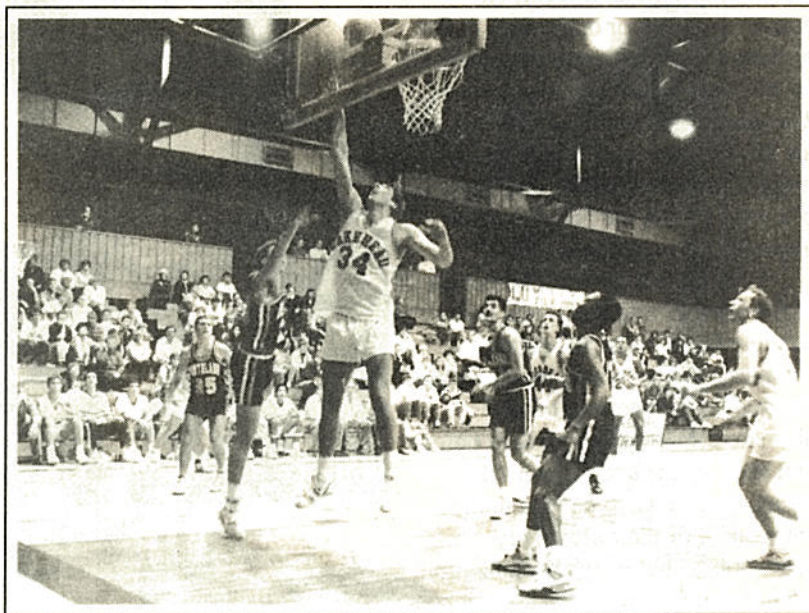

Lakehead University Athletics "Climb to Excellence" has surely taken place this season. As the new year opened we found our men's basketball team with a record of 11-3; a complete turnaround from last season's 5-24 win/loss record.

Coach Pero's team won the prestigious Winnipeg Classic defeating nationally ranked Winnipeg Wesmen and Regina Cougars en route to the championship. Without a doubt the men's team is back in the limelight, largely due to the hustling work ethic employed by Coach Pero and his staff and the terrific attitude of the players. The women's basketball team is 10-4 and ranked 7th in the country as of the new year. Coach Julius' prediction of winning the O.W.I.A.A. West seems close to reality as they defeated defending champions McMaster 60-53 and 58-57 in back-to-back games in November. At that time, McMaster was ranked second in the country. With the continued strong performances of Sharon Knowles, Kathy Harrison and Lorna Braaksma, a national berth in March is a distinct possibility.

Our women's volleyball team has had the best start in its history winning three pre-season tournaments. They are not only winning but Coach Lapre has his team playing exciting, fast-paced volleyball and as a result, the stands are full. It is a strong possibility that we may see the Lady Nor'Westers volleyball team in post-season play for the first time in its history.

The wrestling team has played a major role in bringing the Gord Garvie Memorial Wrestling Tournament to Lakehead University last month. Gord Garvie was a legend in Canadian university wrestling circles and was the main reason why Lakehead was past national champions. Alumni wrestlers attending included Egon Beiler, Elvin Martin, Terry Paice, Frank Abdou, Dave Gibbons, Ron Fikis and many more. Coach Clayton's hard work has been rewarded by the Canadian Amateur Wrestling Association designating Lakehead University as a Regional Training Centre for wrestling. The varsity team, led by Mike Kirlaw, Eddie Zinger, Dale Harrison, and Tony Gallo, are currently preparing for the Ontario championships in London, Ontario.

This year's motto of "Climb to Excellence" has put Lakehead Athletics in a positive successful environment. All teams are having a winning season and are ranked in national polls.

In only our second year in the O.W.I.A.A., the big schools in the south are feeling the cold grip of defeat from the school of the north. Catch the action in the C.J. Sanders Tundradome. See you at the games!

President's Perspective

Most of us remember our university days in a very special way -- friendships and special events that are engrained in us forever. No matter how silly or outlandish some of them may have been, they were all part of the "university experience". The alumni of Lakehead University are no different, and I have heard many a tale of activities that have occurred during the Silver Jubilee years of this institution.

After the expressionist period of the late 60s and early 70s, a new sobriety befell most university campuses. Tremendous peer pressure focused on academics and the ultimate career. I have written before that such preoccupation with the future cost many students a unique component of their university education -- that is, the socialization, team building, and social conscience development that goes with living the university experience. The impact of student sobriety also set the tone for the character of the institutions in general. Today's students are the offspring of the 60s generation, and they are making our campuses come alive. This, I feel, is a healthy sign and an indication that our future is in good hands.

At Lakehead, in the past few years, we have seen spirited and progressive debate on many important issues. Lakehead's students led a major public rally against tuition fee increases and, last year, a referendum was held which will see a $3 million

Dr. Robert Rosehart
President
Lakehead University

student financed Student Centre built on the main campus. This year, a major public debate has gone national (As It Happens on CBC Radio) dealing with the Engineering Students' Society Logo (naked lady on a cannon -- you will, no doubt, remember). I am proud of the way in which our students are dealing with this very controversial issue. Although part of engineering mystique, in today's society, the logo is unacceptable, and I trust our engineering students will come to terms with this problem.

This past Saturday night, I attended an LU Nor'Wester ladies' and men's basketball games at the C.J. Sanders Fieldhouse. The opponents were the University of Western Ontario Mustangs (for the second year LU now plays in the Ontario leagues) and the action was great. Lakehead University won the women's game by 2 points and the men's eventually by 5, but both were nailbiters. It was nice to view, but what was nicer was that over 1,000 spirited (and loud) fans cheered our student athletes to victory.

Academically, Lakehead University is continuing to make its mark. Fresh from our Rhodes scholar last year, this year, four of our Intercollegiate Business teams made it to the National Championships at Queen's. Our first (of three) co-operative education programs has its first work placement in Computer Science this coming summer.

Although I can be accused of nostalgia in this Silver Jubilee column, I must say, with a lot of pride, that I have enjoyed being a part of the development of this institution during the nearly 20 years that I have now spent here.

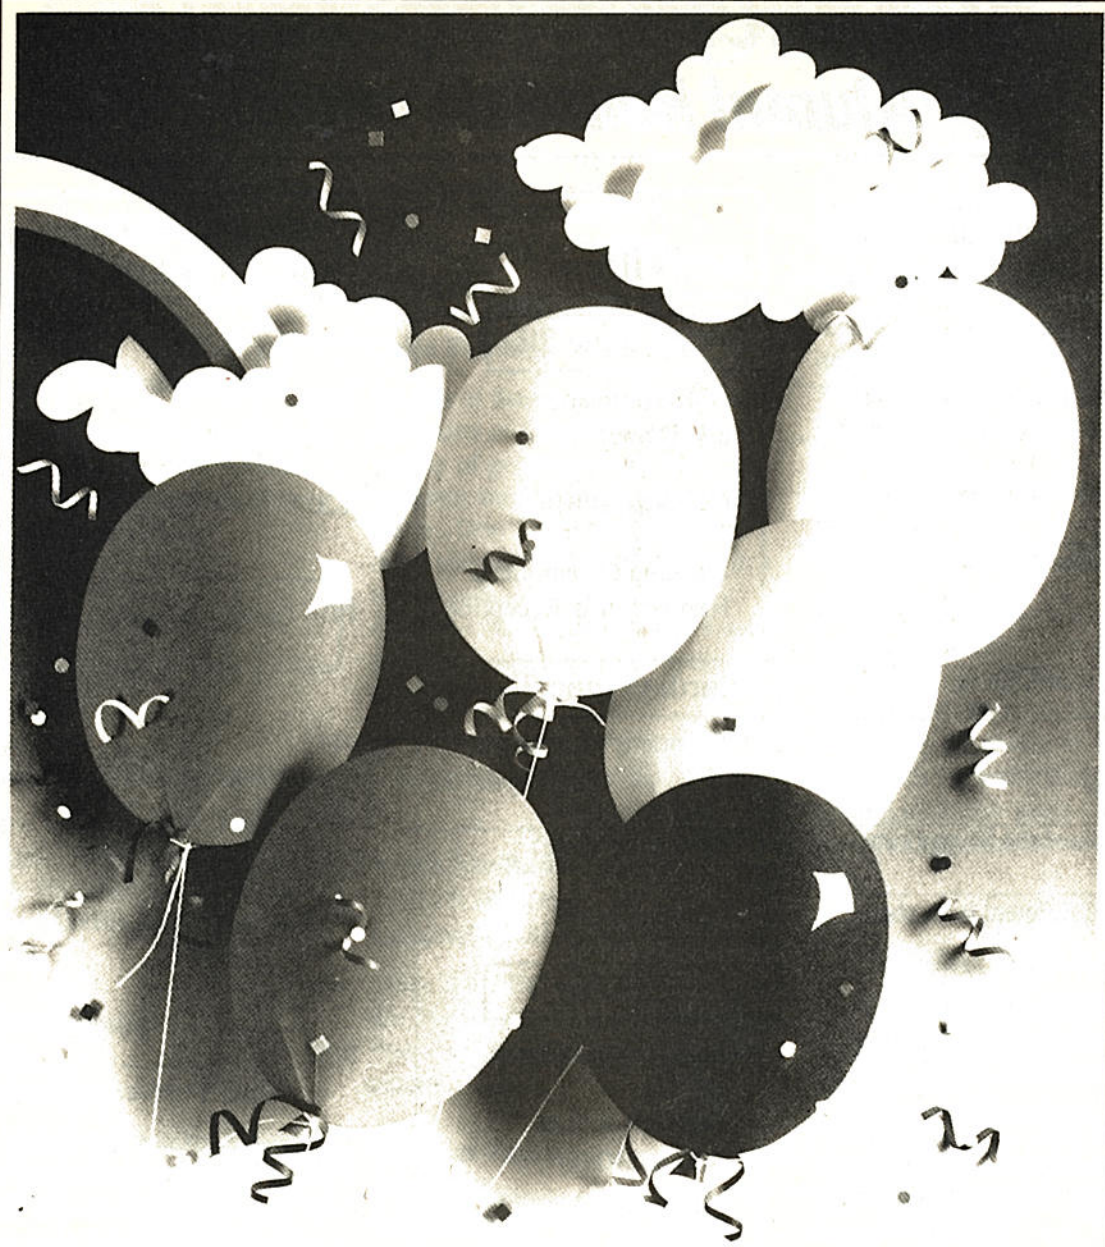

In closing, I would like to personally see our July Homecoming Weekend be a re-visit of your university days (the good days). Many exciting events are planned, and I look forward to seeing you. □

Joseph R. Baratta

A Time to Remember

"Lakehead University is celebrating its 25th Anniversary this year with many special Silver Jubilee activities. These events afford us, as alumni, the opportunity to strengthen our ties with Lakehead University, to renew friendships and to recall the good times that we enjoyed as students.

Your Alumni Association, now 16,500 strong, has grown with the University, and many of your fellow classmates will be "coming home" next summer for Celebration 1990 Alumni Reunion Weekend, June 28 to July 1, 1990.

As President of the Alumni Association, I personally invite you to participate with the rest of the University community in Thunder Bay celebrating this milestone in our history.

Alumni Annual Fund

By Larry Hebert, BA'69, Bus.Dip'70, HBComm'78

This year is the Alumni Association's first attempt at having a board member-at-large who is responsible for the Annual Fund. For all of you who know me, that is member-at-large, not a large member!! At any rate, I am the person on the Board of Directors with responsibility for the Annual Fund.

Given that the University is celebrating its 25th anniversary, the Board of Directors felt that it would be appropriate for the Alumni Association to set its goal at $100,000 this year. That total would be an ambitious target for our relatively young Alumni Association. As it turned out, the main portion of our campaign is completed and we now have over $85,000 in pledges. Thank you for your support.

But we still have $15,000 to raise. What can you do to help? Good question and here are some of your options. If you have given in the past, match or try to add to this year's donation. If you haven't given, start your annual giving this year as we celebrate our Silver Jubilee. Money raised by the Alumni Association has funded the annual $5,000 Lakehead University Alumni Award and we now have six recipients of this award. This year the Association funded three Silver Jubilee scholarships each valued at $10,000. We have also promoted many projects around the University such as library acquisitions, equipment purchases, special studies, events and lecture series.

The Board of Directors of your Alumni Association is looking forward to hosting Celebration 1990 our Alumni Reunion Weekend and we are anticipating making a special gift to the campus that will symbolize our on-going commitment to Lakehead University.

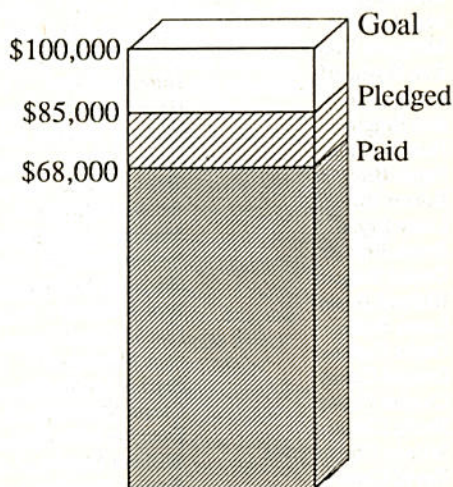

Over the last three months I have travelled a fair amount on business and everywhere I have been, I have met LU graduates who wanted to talk about Celebration 1990. Around Thunder Bay, I have never seen such enthusiasm and would encourage all of you who have expressed an interest in attending to register early since space for some events, particularly the golf tournament, is limited.

Celebration 1990 will be a relaxing time of parties, golf, barbecues, dances and informal fib-telling sessions. It starts on Thursday, June 28th and goes to Sunday, July 1st.

I mentioned the enthusiasm generated this year because of the 25th reunion. Lakehead's four varsity teams are heading in the right direction under a program of achieving excellence. Three of the four varsity coaches are graduates of Lakehead. Team records have been excellent this year. Under the direction of Norm LaVoie and Clyde Tuyl, a Booster Club has been formed. Although less than three months old, the Club has raised over $4,000. The purpose of the Booster Club is to give community support to the varsity teams. Money raised will be used for scholarships, recruitment, coaching enhancements and team support. If you wish to designate funds, you could do so to the Booster Club and still receive a receipt from Lakehead University. We'll have more on the Booster Club for you at the Reunion Weekend.

So please join us for the greatest alumni celebration of Lakehead University's first 25 years. You are part of our history. And one way you can become part of LU's future is to become a donor to the Alumni Annual Fund campaign. Give what you can but please give especially this year during our Silver Jubilee. Your money will be put to good use. □

Editor's Note:
This is a partial list of donors. Names of donors whose contributions were received after December 15 will be listed in the summer issue of the Nor'Wester.

David Heald is a job placement counsellor with the Employment Training Centre, a non-profit agency whose raison d'être is to attempt to train developmentally handicapped people to acquire work and vocational skills and to obtain job placements.

"People in Thunder Bay are more receptive than ever to the integration of developmentally handicapped people," says David enthusiastically. "In 1988, 16 clients were hired by community employers. By November 1989, 48 individuals had been placed into jobs where they do real work for real pay."

The Employment Training Centre (formerly called the Adult Training Centre), along with ARC Industries, Griffith Day Care Centre, Twinhaven School, the Kinsman Great Lakes Home Residence, and 15 to 20 other residences and supported-living residences, all come under the umbrella of the Lakehead Association for Community Living.

The Association (formerly called the Lakehead Association for the Mentally Retarded) has existed in Thunder Bay for 25 years and has a volunteer board of parents and concerned citizens.

The City of Thunder Bay Home Support Programme has hired a few of David's clients to shovel snow, cut grass or paint fences for seniors in the city. Portship has a client and David has worked with St. Joseph's General Hospital to place a client in the kitchen at the union rate of $11.50 per hour. The Life Enrichment Programme at St. Joseph's Heritage Centre also has a placement where clients accompany seniors on outings, serve tea, etc. One cold call to a local department store successfully resulted in a stockperson position for another client.

David is proud of his success at arranging placements for his clients at Lakehead University. Together with Human Resources Officer Myrna Holman, David established a client on a permanent part-time basis to do all the University's paper shredding. Another job was established at the C.J. Sanders Fieldhouse and several of his clients have volunteered to help with the labelling of the Nor'Wester Magazine and other mailings of the Alumni Association.

David Heald encourages a positive attitude on the part of prospective employers. "Give the clients their rights and normal considerations," he says. "Be patient."

A graduate of Confederation College with a diploma in Industrial Relations, David is currently working on his honours degree in Psychology at Lakehead University and may pursue a master's degree in Psychology in the future.

Upon graduating from Lakehead with a BA in 1984, David worked in a group home for emotionally disturbed children. When he became a full-time "Mr. Mom" in 1985, he drove a taxi at night so that he could look after his two children during the day. In 1988 he started working with the Employment Training Centre.

These days David is a volunteer with the Thunder Bay Inter-agency Placement Committee which serves the physically disabled, hearing impaired, blind, Lakehead Psychiatric Hospital and has representatives from Canada Employment Services and Youth Employment Services.

He is also acting in an advisory capacity to the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations with regard to the staffing of their new building under construction at the corner of Water Street and Red River Road in Thunder Bay.

The Wage Policy Pilot Project uses David's expertise for a financial analysis of all agencies placing clients to determine if financial changes in the client's life may affect their Family Benefit Allowance. In some cases David may be the only advocate for the client. This involves him in looking out for his clients' affairs so it is vitally important that he communicate continually with the parents and the schools.

"My work is human advocacy," says David, "and I love my job." □
