GEOLOGY JOURNAL

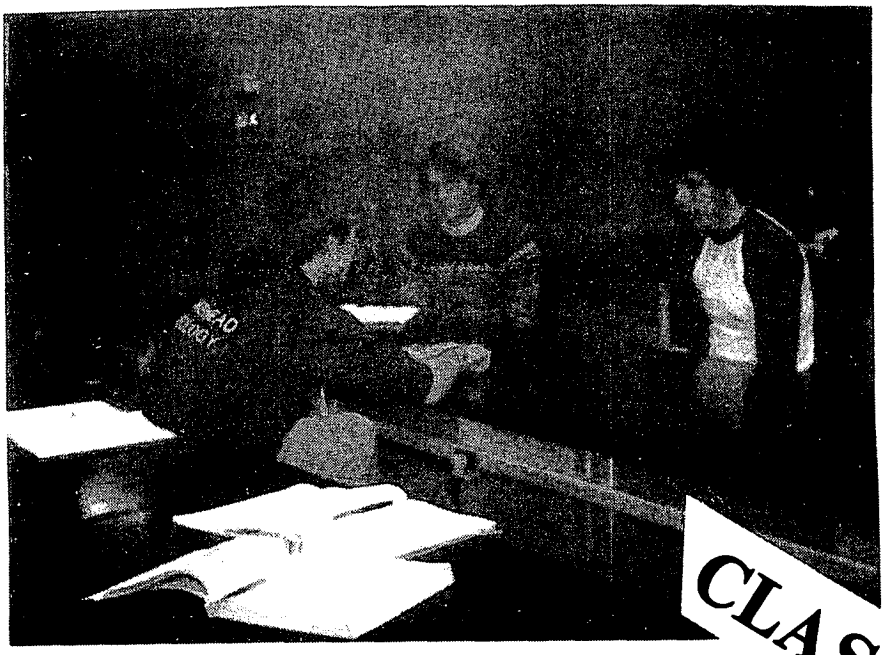

Be nice to a Geologist!

"Geology is mostly about rocks. There are three main kinds of rocks, ignominious, Sedentary, and Metaphoric. Ignominious rocks can be taken for granite. Sedentary rocks are mostly chalk, which comes in cliffs or small round sticks, and sandstone, about which the less said the better. Metaphoric rocks are most interesting. One kind is marble, which comes in little round balls, flat slabs and shapes that looks like naked people without arms, which are kept in museums. Another kind is slate, which is for geologists to write on with chalk. The only other kind worth mentioning is steatite, or soapstone, which is found in the shape of ash trays and old fashioned kitchen sinks. The other kinds are mostly a lot of schist.

"Stones come in a lot of different periods. These were invented by geologists, who have to have something to do, and they are the only ones who remember which is which. The only one I can remember is the Plasticene Period, which is when men first learned how to model and get oil stains on his rompers.

"You have to sort of get used to geologists. At first they seem to have nothing but rocks in their heads, and when they talk about beds, they don't mean what you think. But underneath they are almost normal. When they go on a field trip with their little hammers, they sit around the evening fire on their terminal moraines and sing just like anybody else, songs like 'Lava come back to me,' 'Shale be Cambrian 'Round the mountain,' 'Fossil I do when you are far away?,' 'You'd be so gneiss to come home to,' and 'When the chalk is on the greensands I'll come Huronian Back to you in my new red mari.' When you meet a geologist, be nice to him; he may be somebody normal."

(Reprinted from the June, 1981 Issue of The Vortex, published by the California Section of the American Chemical Society.)

Message from the Geology Club

As president of the 85/86 Geology Club, I would like to express my thanks to those who made this year a successful one. Our club executive was: Deb Archibald, Club President; Phil Vero, Vice President; and Leslie Jessop, secretary-treasurer. Without these people the geology club would have accomplished less than it did.

We did have a field trip to Winston Lake and send a delegation to the WIUGC; but, I have lots of hope that next year will be even better.

This year, however, we did offer the geology club, and several other clubs, the opportunity to take a non-electric blasting course. I would like to thank Carol Lormand for her help in organizing this.

Also, I would like to thank Leslie Jessop and Phil Vero for helping me bumble through the duties of the president (and thanks to Doug Turnbull for twisting my arm to do the job). I realise I made alot of mistakes but hopefully, I will be able to prevent next year's executive from making the same mistakes. Thanks go to Doug Turnbull for getting us T-shirts and for all the help with TNT.

Finally, I would like to thank those who helped throw the yearbook together, such as it is: Barbara Seemayer, Leslie Jessop, Scott Burgess, and Phil Vero.

Yours truly,

Deb Archibald
