“From the Top”

Well, the “new kid in town”, as I have been called has now been with you 14 months, and finds himself in a hazardous situation of thinking that he knows what’s going on! While that may not be the case exactly, I do have a much better idea of the vitality and strengths of the students of Lakehead University School of Forestry and of the institution itself.

This past year, we have had more forestry students enrolled than at any of the other five Canadian schools. Although we don’t have the largest faculty, we do have a hard working one. In addition to their teaching responsibilities, they have initiated a review of our curricula, engendered about $350,000 worth of research grants and contracts, prepared major equipment and research development proposals and participated in a university-wide review and planning exercise. The prospects for the School are very promising, but our successes haven’t been without losses. Prof. D. Mead resigned last year, and while Professors David, Hazenberg, and Yang are on sabbatical leave, we have had to scramble. Professors D. Walker and N. Phillips have been welcomed additions to our faculty, and we hope to acquire more like them. Larry Bockus and Joe Kapron joined the technical side of the team, and our latest member is Alvina Faykes, who is helping in the front office.

We are planning to upgrade the equipment in the remote sensing and photo-interpretation laboratories, and to equip the forest management laboratories with data analysis equipment, and the biological laboratories with plant storage and analysis facilities. These improvements are the first steps we are taking to develop and improve all of our programs.

To some of you, this may appear to have come too late. But despite current market problems, the demand for all types of foresters is going to increase. The era of the managed forest is dawning and the educational training obtained through us must be first class. Please remember that your education begins rather than ends here. The demands made on you by society, the profession, and the forest for its “conservation” (i.e. wise use) are going to be very great. Consider the doors always open for more Lakehead experience.

In the past year some progress has been made towards our mutual goal of making Lakehead’s forestry program second to none. You, as students, and graduates, make a significant contribution to the achievement of that goal. I no longer feel like the “new kid in town” - thank you for your welcome.

For LU Foresters it Signals Fall Activities

If life is a bowl of cherries ...

What am I doing in the pits? Being initiated into a forester, that's what!

On a chilly September afternoon, les Bucherons and the Teachers welcomed in the first year foresters with style. The ceremonies commenced with the annual Miss DBH and Mr. Butt contests. The guys had a hard time choosing between all the buxom beauties, but finally selected Rosemary Ryder-Burbidge as the winner. The men put on a fine performance, but, Mike Desrochers stole the show and was named Mr. Butt.

The first year foresters then went through shit pit after shit pit, and learned not to trust the "helping hand". The promise of a cold beer and a warm fire across the river at the end of the course kept the foresters enthusiastic and rowdy.

Special thanks to the guys who dug the pits and got things rolling. Everyone had one helluva good time.

The "helping hand".

Kam-Am Canoe Race

The annual Kam-Am Canoe Race was a huge success. The foresters had a lazy, enjoyable day while the competitive wreckers dominated the winner's circle.

The water was just too enticing for a certain couple, who decided to take a plunge, and lost some cargo in the process. The electric paddles didn't work, and the officer took away Vic's shotgun (honest officer, I was only trying to wing 'em). One astounding victory was achieved by the foresters - the backwards race championship.

Congratulations go to the winners: Hugh Dobson and Dave Howe (Men's Doubles); Carol Gibb and Mary Slater (Women's Doubles); and Sally Thomson and Dave Kaegi (Mixed Doubles).

The participants had the perfect wind-up to a perfect day at the annual corn roast. The woodlot was ablaze with several gigantic bonfires, and people were a-havin' a great time. Did anyone out there find the corn?

Shine On!

This year Lakehead University Shinerama raised approximately $2450 for Cystic Fibrosis research. The top 3 teams were simply "out-shining" this year. They raised almost half of the total. Ugo Feunekes, Guy Thauvette, Ian McCormick, Mark Steven and Bill Wiltshire have shown what a little determination and effort can do for Cystic Fibrosis.

Participation was up, but amount raised was down. This is likely due to the short number of hours most people spent shining.

Thanks to John Wynn, Mike Rose, and Leslie Hawkins. Also, best of luck to Shinerama '82.

Weyerhaeuser Lectures '81

This year's Weyerhaeuser Lecture Series topic was the "Nutritional Status and Fertilization in the Forest". The event began on the eve of November 19 with Dr. E.H. White of the University of New York. Dr. White's informative lecture explained the amazing effects of fertilization observed in his at the U. of N.Y. The 10 ft. per year growth of Carolina Poplar was the most impressive point.

Dr. I. Morrison from the Great Lakes Forest Research Centre spoke on the second evening. This talk was of the current research on fertilization in the Boreal Forest. The final point was that fertilization is still in the experimental stage.

Finally, the audience and the speakers met at a social for snacks and hot discussion over cold beer.

A toast to the Committee for an excellent event!

Speakers receive tokens of our appreciation.

GROWING POPLAR IN TEST TUBES

From tissue culture in test tubes to a new tree, Researchers at the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources are presently experimenting with this technique of growing poplar from tissue culture. If it is successful, the Ministry can then mass produce thousands of genetically superior plantlets for its regeneration program.

The method involves placing leaf, stem or branch tissue into a growing medium in test tubes in a controlled environment. Callous develops on the tissue and is transferred to a second growing medium where shoots are produced. The shoots are then removed to a third growing medium for root development. The result? A new tree!

As this was (hopefully) our last field school, we made sure that it did not pass without incident. The Sinton Hotel had its best week of the year. They actually ran out of jugs! There were beach bonfires, a daring dog rescue, a presentation of the Cabin 6 award, and a late night sea voyage (See dog rescue). We did do something during the day, can anyone remember what? Congratulations to all those on the football, soccer, volleyball, waterpolo, and the three Ginko curling teams.

The Christmas party at Trevor's was the biggest class bash of the year. The Ginkos participated in various roles in LUFA, woodsmens team, Shinerama, Weyerhaeuser, and Symposium this year.

To all those Ginkos getting hitched this year, all the best. The rest of us will make do with our CIF rings.

Year 1 has just flown by for Lakehead's latest addition to forestry, the graduating of '85 (Who knows what their name is, it may just remain "for. Deg. 1"). Initiation. What can I say except it was the absolute pits, (Couldn't resist it). Classes. They would have been great if we could have stayed awake. As far as class Participation, apathy is great and I hope it improves next year. The year ended in a typical forestry fashion at the Waves, but no one is able to remember exactly what happened. Seriously, it was a good year and the class shows potential, esp. in indoor soccer.

The Speakers.

After Dinner Thoughts.

And we all had a really good time.

Public What?

The 14th annual LUFA Symposium dealt with "Public Awareness of Forestry and it's Implications." The two days of lectures were interesting, "eye-opening", and somewhat disconcerting. The general consensus of the speakers was that foresters must shake the image of the hidden profession and impress, upon the public, the importance of forestry to this country. Bill Fullerton, Ross Howard, Neils Carl, and Ted McHale indicated that Government as well as industry must publicize what they are doing to improve the present situation of the forest sector. At this time foresters do not have a good public image, particularly during times of conflict with special interest groups over such issues as the "Whitewater Wilderness Area vs G.L.F.P. Ltd. harvesting operations" conflict. It is something that all foresters as professionals, are going to have to deal with more and more in the future.

The Symposium Dinner and Dance at the Red Oak Inn was once again a success. The meal was good, Herb Bax delivered an entertaining and thought provoking after dinner speech, and then Fat Chance provided the dance music.

Thanks should be extended to all of the symposium committee members who put forth the time and effort to make the whole "show" possible.

THE FACTS & FIGURES ON DAILY INTEREST SAVINGS.

The Facts

Your savings balance tends to fluctuate during the month. Open a Commerce Daily Interest Savings Account, a non-chequing passbook account. You receive a passbook to help you keep a record of your savings and the interest that has been paid to date.

The Figures

• Based on your final daily balance, this account returns an attractive rate of interest per annum, paid twice a year.

• No minimum balance required.

• Unlike some other daily interest savings accounts, with a Commerce account, you are not charged for withdrawals or transfers, no matter how many you make. However, you cannot write cheques on this account.

• You can arrange, free of charge, to have a specified amount of money transferred automatically, at regular intervals, between your savings and chequing accounts.

Chances are, our Commerce savings accounts will add up to just the right kind of savings vehicle for you. So drop into a Commerce branch today and ask us for the facts and figures on all of our accounts. We'll welcome the opportunity to take your banking needs into account.

"Participation Makes the Difference"

A stake in the future.

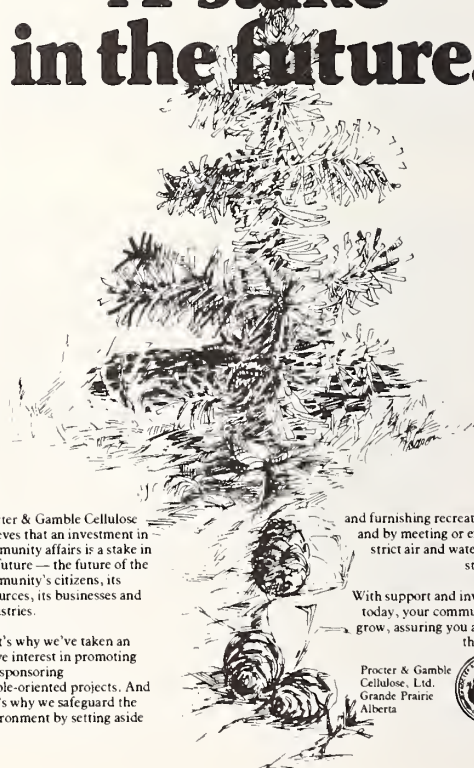

Procter & Gamble Cellulose believes that an investment in community affairs is a stake in the future — the future of the community's citizens, its resources, its businesses and industries.

That's why we've taken an active interest in promoting and sponsoring people-oriented projects. And that's why we safeguard the environment by setting aside and furnishing recreation areas and by meeting or exceeding strict air and water quality standards.

With support and investment today, your community will grow, assuring you a stake in the future.

The Rings

On Friday the 5th of March 1982, the tenth graduating class of foresters from Lakehead University gathered at the Airplane Hotel for the annual ring ceremony of the CIF. The evening was highlighted by dinner, speeches, a slide tape show, and of course the presentation of the rings.

The most memorable part of the evening comes in two parts, Paul Krabbe's speech "Grecian Formula Anyone?" (Sorry Crandall) and of course the memories of stem analysis on white birch (Being certain to pile the bolts neatly on the side of the road). The other memorable part of the evening was the slide tape show which managed to embarrass almost every member of the graduating class. Fortunately only one person had to do some explaining to his parents. (I'd ditch that hat Ian!)

The final question that the ring ceremony brings to mind is, did anybody count the bottles of wine that certain people placed under a table?

Forestry Day

On February 27, 1982, LUFA held its second annual Forestry Day. Several professors, students, and local businesses set up forestry displays in the Agora. Out in the field, woodsmen teams from the USA and Ontario competed in the LU invitational woodsmen competition. The public was invited to come out and view the competition and displays. The highlight of the day was the superlogger event. One competitor from each team did 5 different logging events - all in a row! Big Al from Unity, Maine was proclaimed male superlogger, and Ingrid Russell from LU was crowned female superlogger. Unity, Maine walked away with first place in the men's division, and the LU gals won the women's overall trophy.

Thanks to Ralph Spaans and his committee for organizing the event.

Forestry All-Star Championship Team

MJS

Once again, the Forestry all star team won the carnival hockey competition. That's 2 years in a row! Way to go guys - let's go for a hat trick! On Saturday Jan. 23, 1982, despite blowing snow and freezing temperatures, 13 fool-hardy woodsmen teams competed in the carnival woodsmen competition. More axe handles were broken than logs were chopped through during the log chopping event. There were some fine performances; Rob Howe got 85/100 in the axe throw event; Dave Bogensberger piled pulp logs in 30 seconds; and Chris Nanni gobbled an amazing 9.2 meters! Severe frostbite was avoided through the consumption of large doses of anti-freeze. Afterwards, everyone warmed-up at the Bushman's Brawl, where the winners were announced. These were: Men's team No. 16, Dennis Rossit; Women's team No. 12, Francis Youck; co-ed team, Rob Howe. Congrats to ALL!!

The gobbling event.

Meanwhile, Back in the Bush ...

MJS

You could see foresters from all years. Tech I learned all there was to know about geology from the back of the bus. Frank demonstrated to them tremendous cutting skill. Degree I collected all kinds of plants and learned to trust their compasses.

Degree II learned to drive a skidder and identify 50 different species of birds, with the help of the handy-dandy field guide. A word of experience: initial attack can be a muddy experience.

At Thessalon, Lorax dug a few soil pits, picked up a few diseases, dug a few soil pits, identified a few herbs and dug a few more soil pits. They also discovered Cream Pie is Prof. Eiber's favourite food.

Some Ginkgoes decided to swim across Lake Huron, but got tired of walking. Important discoveries were made, but no one remembers what they were. Due to heavy herbicide exposure, Ginkgoes rushed to local pubs to dilute the effects. Between all these activities, a few trees got thinned and pruned. Tech II can answer any questions you want to know about Raith but were afraid to ask.

Claude takes the Techers for a stroll in the bush.

L.U. Exports

When asked "Why go to Holland? Are there any forests?" Peter Green and Mark Finstad, Lakehead exchange students to Holland replied, "You bet there are!" Thanks to Gerard Vanderberg, Peter and Mark, spent the summer in Holland viewing tulips, windmills, canals, wooden shoes and blonde, blue-eyed beauties. They also met foresters, researchers and professors and worked in Dutch forests. It is hoped that the exchange program can be continued, when some problems in planning and organization have been overcome.

New Brunswick!

On the third weekend of October in the fall of '82, the spirited L.U. Woodsmen Team headed east to the University of New Brunswick for the 2nd consecutive year.

Nineteen guys and girls van-danced for 36 hours in an attempt to pass the time on the way to UNB's 18th Inter-Collegiate Woodsmen Competition. Needless to say, a good time was had by all as the green and red 'boxes' passed the miles away.

Weeks of practice fortunately paid off as Lakehead 'A' placed 10th out of 30 teams.

Montreal

The end of January saw the woodsmen bound for Montreal. Thirteen took the train while six braved the winter cold in Al's halfton. The valiant efforts of teams were rewarded only with mediocre placings. The Women's Team salvaged some of Lakeheads honor by bringing home the fell and twitch trophy. Way to go Ladies!

Final Words

Harvest '82 is the result of many hours of work by a number of people. Mark Stevens, Leslie Hawkins, and Tim Moulton have put in hours of work in getting advertising for the book. A special thanks to Guylaine Thauvette, Francis Youck, and Teresa Holla who have spent hours on typing, layouts, and proof reading. Raymond Wagner did most of our darkroom work and Rohn Solecki, Mark Stevens, Shannon Stone, Peter Hanmore, and Rob Whalley did their best to keep him busy. Susan MacBrien took care of our accounts. Thanks must be given to Rohn Solecki for his suggestions and support. Margret Penner and Susanna Grimes also helped out with ideas, pictures, and work. As is obvious by now, many people have put out a lot of time and effort to bring out this book.

I hope that you have enjoyed reading through this yearbook. If you think that you can make a book better than this one please make yourself known to the staff of Harvest '83. Fran Youck will be editing next year's Harvest and she will need some help. If you have noticed that eight of the staff of this book have graduated you will appreciate the number of people that are required to bring out a book. If you are concerned about doing things for people, get involved with Shinerama, or the Symposium or Weyerhaeuser Committees. If you enjoy sports have a go at Logger sports try-out for the Woodsman's Teams. Or if you care to try something really different lend a hand to publish this yearbook. People who care to layout pages, or take pictures or draw artwork are needed. The number of things that have to be done to make a yearbook seem to be endless.

A final word on Spirit, Forestry students are noted for having a lot of it, so keep it up. Participation in events is a funny thing, if you put a lot into it, you will get back a good deal more than you expected.
