

Lakehead's second annual Fall Convocation was held in the Agora on Saturday, November 17th. President Booth acted on behalf of the Chancellor, the Honourable Mr. Justice Bora Laskin, who was unable to attend the ceremony. In turn, Dean Angus, filling the role normally assigned to the President, acted as the presenter of candidates. 246 graduates received degrees and diplomas during the ceremony.

Dr. Walter Alvah Samuel Smith, the Convocation Speaker, was introduced by Department of Psychology Professor Dr. James F. Evans. As a student at the University of Alberta, Dr. Evans had studied under Dr. Smith and had formed a friendship with him. Consequently, he was able to infuse his introductory remarks with anecdotes that provided a "personal" context from which to view the speaker.

Dr. Smith opened his talk with a mild disclaimer as to the validity of speechmaking. He called it "this ineffectual form of communication" as compared to "... the most authentic approach to personal communication . . . the example of your daily activity and interaction". With tongue firmly in cheek, Dr. Smith blamed his lack of strength of character for his inability to stop "... this pontifical exhortation". He then called on his audience of graduates to engage with him in a "... kind of instant nostalgia about the experiences whose successful completion we celebrate here this afternoon." This nostalgia trip became a spring-board for Dr. Smith to explore facets of university structure and life that he disliked ("the awesome intolerance . . . and arrogance") or enjoyed ("those delightfully impractical and totally endless debates . . .")

He used his personal love/hate feelings for universities as a background from which

to draw out the good and bad points of the present structure of universities. He called for a move away from the lock-step approach to higher education and for a need to rethink the historical antecedents and contemporary assumptions that cause universities to package knowledge in particular disciplinary ways.

He went on to say that, the university, while moving away from elitist modes, must not try to be all things to all people. Rather, a basis for restructuring should be worked out that combines both order and a social grouping "in which what Maslow would call the good person can come into being and develop (and) in which, through the authenticity of daily lives, a valid sense of community can emerge".

The ceremony was heavily attended by friends and relatives of the graduates. A reception was held in the Great Hall immediately following the Convocation exercise.

Dean Angus

O.I.S.E. Appointment

The Honourable Thomas L Wells, Minister of Education for the Province of Ontario has appointed Dr. James T. Angus, Dean of the Faculty of Education at Lakehead University to serve as a member of the Board of Governors of the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education. Dr. Angus joins the Board of Governors as a representative of the teacher-training institutions of Ontario for a period of three years.

At an October meeting of the Lakehead University Board of Governors, Dr. Angus' appointment as Dean of the Faculty of Education was renewed for an additional five year term - from July 1, 1974 to June 30, 1979.

He was initially appointed to the position in 1969 when Lakehead Teachers' College was integrated with the University to form the nucleus of the Education Faculty. Under Dean Angus' direction, the Lakehead Faculty of Education pioneered the first four-year concurrent teacher education programme in Ontario, was the first Faculty to offer a full range of elementary and secondary teacher certification programmes both concurrently and consecutively and until certification regulations caused it to be discontinued, was the only teacher education institution in Ontario to offer a two-year diploma programme for elementary teachers after Grade XIII. A Master of Education Programme specializing in curriculum and administration has recently received favourable appraisal by the Ontario Committee on Graduate Studies and will be initiated in the summer of 1974. A grant of $32,850., awarded by the Donner Canadian Foundation in October will assist the Lakehead Faculty of Education to plan a teacher education programme and curriculum resource centre for Indian schools in Northwestern Ontario.

Dean Angus received his elementary education in Muskoka and his secondary education at Parkdale Collegiate Institute, Toronto. He attended the University of Toronto and graduated with a B.A. degree in 1949. After one year in the business world, Dr. Angus decided to become a teacher. He received his teacher training at the former Hamilton Normal School. He taught four years in the Hamilton Public School system and for two years in the newly established Federal Day School at Coppermine, Northwest Territories from 1952 to 1954. He was appointed Principal of the Bolton Public School in 1957 and Principal of the Eastwood Public School, Grantham Township in 1958. In 1959, he accepted the position of Teachers' College Master at the North Bay Teachers' College. He served in North Bay for seven years during which time he was given leave of absence to teach in the Singapore Teacher Training College under the auspices of the Colombo Plan. Dean Angus resigned his position at North Bay in 1966 to pursue doctoral studies at the University of Alberta. He graduated in 1968 with a Ph.D. in Educational Administration and from 1968 to 1969 was Associate Professor of Education and Director of Graduate Studies, Faculty of Education University of New Brunswick, Fredericton. In July 1969, he accepted his present position

Historical Geographers Meet

The Fall Meeting of the Ontario Historical Geographers was held at Trent University, Peterborough, on Saturday 10 November. About 40 people attended. The first speaker was Mr. R.S. Dilley of the Lakehead Geography Department, who gave an invited paper on "Some Problem Areas in the Teaching of Historical Geography". This paper considered a number of difficulties faced by historical geographers in designing and presenting their courses; such as the degree of temporal, spatial and topical limitation desirable at different levels, the integration of practical and field work and the introduction of philosophical concepts. A strong plea was made for greater emphasis, in historical geography courses, on the critical analysis of data sources and on theoretical model-building, including use of the computer and field-plotter. The paper provoked a remarkably lively discussion for early on a Saturday morning and it was suggested that some of the points raised might be considered in greater depth at later meetings of this group.

Donner Grant to Faculty of Education

The Faculty of Education at Lakehead University has been awarded a grant of $32,850. by the Donner Canadian Foundation to assist the Faculty in developing a teacher education programme and curriculum development centre for Indian schools in Northwestern Ontario. The grant was awarded in response to a proposal submitted by Dr. James T. Angus, Dean of the Faculty of Education to the Foundation in May of this year. The Donner Canadian Foundation is a private Foundation which makes grants for a variety of projects including those designed to assist the Native People of Canada.

Part of the grant will be used to appoint a planning specialist who will have the responsibility of planning the programme in consultation with Indian people and other interested groups.

Education Utilization

The federal Ministry of Science and Technology and Statistics Canada are launching a $1.5 million survey this fall to determine how university graduates are using their education.

About one-third of the country's estimated 500,000 university graduates will receive a detailed six-page, 10 question survey in the mail.

According to A.S. Bandzierz, a science adviser with the Ministry, the questionnaire will attempt to determine the educational background of each graduate surveyed and his or her current employment status.

The survey intends to determine how many university graduates take up jobs in their speciality and how many do not.

Raw data from the survey will be made available to universities and industry in the spring for those who wish to make their own analysis. The final Ministry report is scheduled for the fall of 1974.

Research Note Published

A research note by Dr. J. David Martin, of the Department of Sociology, entitled "Pejorative Factors in the Suspicion of Deception", was recently published in the Journal of Social Psychology, 1973, Volume 91. This note follows Dr. Martin's study, "Suspicion and the Experimental Confederate: a study in the role and credibility", which was published in Sociometry, 1970, Volume 33.

Christian Insights Continues

The series of free public lectures and panel discussions entitled "Christian Insights in a Confused World" continues on Tuesday, November 27th at 8:30 p.m. in the lower Lecture Theatre. The guest speaker will be Reverend Tim Ryan who will discuss "The Christian Contribution to Man's Search for Liberation."

Born in Windsor, Ontario, Tim Ryan received a B.A. in Philosophy at the University of Western Ontario and studied theology at St. Augustine's Seminary in Toronto. In 1963 he travelled to Brazil as a pastoral assistant to the Catholic Church in Amazonia. After three years there, he continued his post-graduate studies in theology programme at Lyon in France and at Muenster in Germany. He then returned to Brazil where he worked in the Leadership Training Programmes for Catholic church leaders, and concluded his final year there as professor at the Regional Pastoral Institute for Northern Brazil. He is now a professor in the field of Social Ethics at the Toronto School of Theology. In his lecture, "The Christian Contribution to Man's Search for Liberation", Mr. Ryan will reflect upon the meaning of the various movements of Liberation, not only in terms of the claims that their demands make upon us, but also in terms of the human existence that they draw attention to, and the dynamics of human history that they assume. He will also discuss the implications of Liberation parameters for Christian consciousness in our day and in our culture. Further lecture in this series will be offered after Christmas.

Co-operative Library Use

The Ontario Council of Libraries has slightly revised the agreement on the co-operative use of libraries by faculty, graduate students and staff members from provincially assisted Ontario universities. Privileges will be extended to all member libraries:

1. Upon presentation of a valid University Identification Card which clearly indicates the holder's status and the validity date, and collateral identification, a faculty member, graduate student or staff member is entitled to reference service and photocopying service on the basis as personnel of the host university. If the visiting faculty member, graduate student or staff member does not have a valid University Identification Card, he will be required to obtain an "Inter-University Library Card" from the Chief Librarian (or delegate) of his own university.
2. Other privileges such as access to closed stacks or assigned carrels, should be applied for in person to the host Chief Librarian (or delegate).

3. Within the provisions of the Interlibrary Loan Code, loans of material from the library visited may be initiated at that library during its Interlibrary Loan Office hours. Such loans will be handled through Interlibrary Loan procedures and records. Approved loans will be sent by regular means of Inter-university transport to the home library.

These arrangements are in addition to the reciprocal use of the collections made through normal Interlibrary channels.

The hours and regulations of member libraries are outlined in a handbook prepared by the Office of Library Co-ordination. Copies of the handbook are available for consultation in all member library.

Inter-University Library Cards, for those without valid University Identification Cards, will be available from the Reference Department in the Lakehead University Library.

Christmas Cheer Fund

Approximately 1,000 Christmas hampers were delivered to needy families last year through the Thunder Bay Community Service Christmas Cheer Fund. The fund is administered by a Citizen's committee and has the support of virtually all social agencies, churches and other groups interested in an activity of this nature.

The actual work involved in assembling, packing and delivering these hampers is performed by volunteers and requires the efforts of several hundred people. The 50 vehicles used for delivery are furnished by local firms. The firemen of Thunder Bay are, this year providing a substantial sum of money for the purchase of new toys

Correction

Since the last issue of LU WEEK appeared on campus, we have been hearing rumours to the effect that the Information Office is caught in a time-warp. We wish to state categorically that this, to the best of our recollection, at this point in time, is not the case. It is true that in our last issue Dr. Charles was identified as being Chairman of the Department of Economics which of course, is not factual - nor has it been since July 1972 when Dr. Jecchinis became that will bring joy to girls and boys who might otherwise have an 'empty' Christmas.

Overwhelming support such as this, as well as from schools and churches where canned goods are collected, and from business firms, organizations, service clubs, unions and interested citizens is vital to the success of the Christmas Cheer effort.

In order to continue this worthwhile project, an appeal for funds is being made. Contributions can be mailed to Box 1973, Christmas Cheer Fund, Thunder Bay; the newspaper office, 177 Arthur Street, or the Bank of Nova Scotia, Victoria and May Streets.

Economics Department Chairman.

We also had Dr. Charles toiling mightily to maintain a Graduate Diploma programme for foreign students - that programme ceased to exist in June of 1972.

Time-warp: no. Mistake: yes. We wish to apologize to Dr. Jecchinis and Dr. Charles for turning the clock back and for any embarrassment our blunder may have caused them.
